INDEX TO MITCHELL'S ANCIENT ATLAS.

In this Index, which is made for the sake of easy reference to the Ancient Atlas, the first column contains all the Names in the Classical Maps; in the second, the class—as Towns, Rivers, &c.—to which each belongs, is designated; in the third, the country in which each word may be found is given; in the fourth are the Numbers of the Maps; and in the fifth, the Modern Names of such places as are known at the present time. The Names in the Scripture Maps are arranged separately, at the end of this Index, and in a similar manner.

MAP OF THE WORLD

as known to the Ancients.

ENGRAVED TO ILLUSTRATE

MITCHELL'S ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY.

The route of Alexander the Great from Greece to India and thence to Babylon is represented thus ...

EXPLANATION.

This character ⚑ denotes battles and seiges. The annexed figures show the dates of their occurrence.
B.C. signifies before and A.D. after Christ.
The names of Nations and Tribes are underscored.
The figures placed on rivers &c. show their lengths in miles. On mountains their heights in feet.

Ptolemy erroneously imagined that a great inland sea was formed by the coast of Africa extending eastward until it joined the coast of Asia

The world as represented by Ptolemy extended E and W 170° but according to modern computation only 120° thus proving the former to have exceeded the truth by 50°. This error arose from the imperfect method by which the ancients reckoned longitude. As suitable instruments for the purpose were unknown they relied on the distances observed in travelling which being unchecked by astronomical observations were necessarily defective.

COMPARATIVE MAP OF THE WORLD.

The shaded part of the Map represents that portion of the World known to the Ancients.

This work is nearly ready, and will be issued at the earliest day consistent with the importance of the undertaking.

JOHNSTON'S TURNER'S CHEMISTRY,

A Manual of Chemistry, on the basis of Dr. Turner's Elements of Chemistry, containing, in a condensed form, all the most important facts and principles of the Science, designed as a Text Book in Colleges and other Seminaries of learning. By John Johnston, A. M., Professor of Natural Science in the Wesleyan University.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

From J. W. Bailey, Professor of Chemistry at West Point.

West Point, N. Y., May, 1843.

My Dear Sir,—I have too long delayed thanking you for the copy of your Manual of Chemistry, which you kindly sent me. I have looked through the book with considerable attention, and it appears to me that you have succeeded in making a judicious selection and arrangement of the most important facts and theories of Chemical Science. There is much usually included in text books, which is only useful to refer to, but which cannot advantageously form a part of the usual course of instruction;—and I think you have done well in omitting such matter. I think your Manual well adapted to the course of chemical instruction usually given in this country, and without hesitation would recommend it for the use of students.

Believe me sincerely your friend,

Prof. J. Johnston, Wes. Univ'y. [Signed,] J. W. BAILEY.

From Professor Booth, of the High School, Philad'a.

Philad'a, Nov. 30, 1842.

I find, upon a careful examination of Johnston's Manual of Chemistry, that it is extremely well adapted to the object for which it is designed. As a text book I regard it as superior to Turner's Chemistry, on which it is based, being more condensed and practical, and yet sufficiently expanded, and equally presenting the late rapid advancement of the science. Respectfully yours,

Messrs. Thomas, Cowperthwait & Co., Philad'a. [Signed,] JAS. C. BOOTH.

CHARLES PICOT'S SERIES OF FRENCH SCHOOL BOOKS.

No. 1.—FIRST LESSONS IN FRENCH, consisting of Rules and Directions or the attainment of a just Pronunciation; select Pieces, Sentences, Colloquial Phrases, and Words in general use; conveniently arranged for double translation, from French into English, and from English into French. By Charles Picot.

No. 2.—THE FRENCH STUDENT'S ASSISTANT, being a Recapitulation of the most important Grammatical Examples and Facts of the French Language: with a Key to Pronunciation; by Charles Picot.—We have only room to insert the following recommendations, taken from a large number received:

RECOMMENDATIONS.

From Peter S. Du Ponceau, LL.D., President of the American Philosophical Society.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12, 1843.

Dear Sir,—I beg you will receive my thanks for the copy of the new edition of your First Lessons in French, which you have done me the honour to present to me. I have read it with great pleasure. The high reputation which you have acquired by the successful exercise of your profession in this city, during five and twenty years, renders any recommendation of that work entirely unnecessary: nevertheless, I cannot help expressing my satisfaction at the publication of a work so well calculated for the instruction of our youth in the French language. I am, dear Sir, your most ob't humble serv't,

Charles Picot, Esq. PETER S. DUPONCEAU.

From Baron d'Hauterive, French Consul, Philadelphia.

My dear Sir,—I see with pleasure that you are going to offer to the public, in a new edition of your "First Lessons in French," and "French Student's Assistant," some of the fruit of your long and successful experience. These two publications appear to me admirably adapted to the object for which they are intended. I think it would be difficult to suggest anything better than the rules and directions for the attainment of a good French pronunciation, contained in your "First Lessons," whilst the arrangement of the pieces, which you have selected for double translation, must give you a strong claim on the gratitude of those teachers and pupils who may be induced to use this book.

Your "French Student's Assistant" is a remarkable and most convenient condensation of what is particularly important in French grammar; it might, in my opinion, with equal propriety be called the French Teacher's Assistant.

Any unprejudiced instructor, who will take the trouble to examine these first two numbers of your series, cannot, I am sure, fail to appreciate and adopt them, to teach private pupils and classes.

I am, with much regard, your most obedient servant,

Philadelphia, Oct. 19, 1843. BARON D'HAUTERIVE.

From Mr. F. A. Brégy, Professor of Modern Languages in the High School of Philad'a.

Having given Mr. Picot's works, entitled "First Lessons in French," and "French Student's Assistant," a careful examination, I cannot but express the satisfaction their perusal afforded me, and my decided opinion of their superiority to any I have seen. The views of the author on the subject are very correct, and yet they are new and quite different from the routine generally adopted by instructors of foreign languages. I am thoroughly convinced that they will not only prove useful books, but also valuable and sure guides both to the Students and Teachers of that branch of learning.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19, 1843. F. A. BRÉGY.
